"WHAT'S UP, DOC?"

Bugs Bunny is one of the most recognized cartoon characters in the world and a legend in his own time. First created in 1940 by Ben "Bugs" Hardaway and then fully developed by Tex Avery, Bugs Bunny first appeared in the Academy Award-nominated "A Wild Hare".

An Oscar-winner in 1958 for "Knighty Knight Bugs", Bugs Bunny has been nominated for 3 Academy Awards and has been the star of 4 motion pictures, 175 animated shorts and 14 CBS prime time specials. His characteristic voice created by Mel Blanc and his "What's Up, Doc?" signature statement suggested by animator Herman Cohen is recognized the world over.

Bugs' hare-trigger wit, cool intelligence and unflappable poise guarantee that he is everybody's hero. This carrot-chomping sophisticate is ready to play along with any of the other Looney Tunes characters but always stays one mischievous hop ahead.

Bugs Bunny is more than a cartoon character, he is the superstar of the Looney Tunes cast and definitely a primary character. Popular with children, boys especially love Bugs' hero status and winning tactics. Bugs Bunny is equally loved by adults who enjoy the nostalgia associated with this 14-carrot hero and his hare-raising adventures.
